

2nd to 4th March 2010

CENTRE FOR REMANUFACTURING & REUSE

Inaugural International Remanufacturing Congress

- Find out how to maximise commercial and sustainability benefits through remanufacturing.
- Discover how remanufacturing can improve your business resilience, help retain customers and deliver resource savings.
- Share experiences with others involved in remanufacturing and the procurement of remanufactured products.
- Find solutions to technical, business and policy challenges in maximising value from remanufacturing and the use of remanufactured products.
- Find out what is happening across the world to improve the business context for remanufacturing.

Who should attend?

- Business leaders, managers and technical experts in remanufacturing companies and those interested in the potential for remanufacturing.
- Corporate and public sector procurers interested in the potential commercial and sustainability benefits from sourcing remanufactured products.
- Policy makers and implementers keen to understand the full scope of potential benefits achievable through remanufacturing and how these can be realised.

Keynote speakers include:

Walter Stahel, Founder Director of The Product Life Institute in Geneva and author of 'The Performance Economy', Dr Nabil Nasr, Founder of the National Centre for Remanufacturing & Recovery at Rochester Institute of Technology USA and Chairman of the OECD Expert Group on Sustainable Production, and Ken Hoefling, General Manager, Caterpillar Remanufacturing - Asia Pacific

Also speaking are:

Andy Harrison of Rolls-Royce Engineering; Dr Iain Todd of the Advanced Manufacturing Research Centre; Sara Eppel, Defra's Head of Sustainable Products and Consumers; Virginia Seaward of Boss Design; David Parker, Head of the Centre for Remanufacturing & Reuse; Clinton Perry of Delcam; Phil Proudman of the Bond Group; and Dr Ben Walsh, member of the British Standard Committee on Manufacture, Assembly, Disassembly and End of Life

Remanufacturing - good business for a low carbon economy.

To register, contact +44 (0)1296 423915
or lesley.maddox@remanufacturing.org.uk

or visit www.remanufacturing.org.uk and click on News & Events

Event location:
Woodland Grange Conference Centre,
Leamington Spa, Warwickshire CV32 6RN UK